

Not only should Wisconsin's "No Call" policy be allowed to continue, it should be made even stronger by including cell phone numbers and increasing the fine to $10,000 per incident. The Consumer Bankers Assoc. may not appreciate Wisconsin's law but Wisconsin residents love it. We do not need banking telemarketers to help us find our banks. We do not need a uniform federal law which would weaken an already excellent state law that is supported by 80% of the population of our state. It is my hope that Wisconsin's law will be made even stronger--not weakened.
